

18.2 WATER MAINS

Details of the water mains network can be found on Northumbrian Water drawings numbered as follows:

North side:

NZ3366NW 16-12-1999

NZ3366SW 18-02-2000

South side:

NZ3365SW 18-02-2000

NZ3365NW 18-02-2000

North of the River Tyne

The water mains are concentrated in built-up areas and are therefore laid following the roads in the industrial area on the river bank, those in the housing estates east of the existing tunnel entrance, and roads west of the junction between the A19 and the A193.

South of the River Tyne

The water mains generally follow the alignment of roads through housing estates and industrial areas. Therefore, as the land becomes more built-up towards the river bank, the concentration of water mains increases.
